History of Labor Day

UNITED STATES

EARLY ADOPTERS

Labor Day, recognized by labor activists and individual states, began as municipal ordinances in 1885 and 1886. Oregon led; New York and several states followed.

FOUNDERS

In 1882, Peter J. McGuire and Matthew Maguire both claimed authorship of Labor Day, a holiday honoring workers

FIRST LABOR DAY

Labor Day debuted September 5, 1882, in New York City. By June 28, 1894, President Grover Cleveland declared it a national holiday.

NATIONWIDE HOLIDAY

Labor Day festivities street parades, followed by family festivals. Later, speeches and Labor Sunday emerged.

TODAY

Labor Day has realized the ideals that enacted labor rights; nations worldwide honor all workers.

Happy National Grandparents Day!

International Day of Peace

What does peace mean?

Peace is a word that holds many different meanings. It is a word that can be used in a lot of different ways. One definition of peace is: freedom from disturbance; a time of tranquillity when you are not disturbed by anyone or anything. Peace can also be defined as a state or period in which there is no war, or a war has ended.

The United Nations

In 1945, representatives from 51 countries around the world met in San Francisco in the United States of America (USA). After the Second World War had ended, the world was left in a mess. There was no longer trust between neighbouring countries and there was no longer any peace. The representatives from each of the 51 countries decided that they must do something to re-establish peace and so a very important document was signed. The document was made up of four very important agreements. The agreements were:

- To maintain international peace and security
- To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for equal rights.
- To achieve international co-operation in solving international problems.
- To be a centre for harmonising the actions of nations in the attainment of these goals.
